SNOW MONKEY

STAINLESS STEEL THERMOS

SNOW MONKEY STORY

Our story began with a visit to Japan's Nagano Prefecture, which is known for its large population of snow monkeys. They got their name from the fact that they live farther north than any other non-human primate, in areas where snow covers the ground for several months. Being cloaked in thick, soft fur and bathing in hot springs allows them to survive in extreme weather conditions that plunge way below zero, while the mountain and forest shelters protect them from the hot summers. We were inspired by their ingenuity and decided to create a line of thermal bottles named after them. Snow Monkey flasks keep your drinks at a constant temperature no matter what it's like outside, providing you with a warm beverage on a chilly day and cold refreshment to beat the summer heat.

MONKEY SHIELD

VACUUM INSULATION

Double wall and vacuum insulation act as a barrier to heat transfer, so the outside temperature doesn't affect the temperature of the liquid inside.

LIGHT WEIGHT

The vacuum process removes all the moisture and gas from the bottle, allowing for thinner spacing between the walls. This unique process makes the Snow Monkey flask lighter, slimmer, and easier to carry.

18/8 STAINLESS STEEL

Stainless steel walls make for a product that will last, while protecting from flavor transfer, so your tea doesn't taste like yesterday's coffee. It also makes the flask easy to clean.

+ SWEAT FREE
+ WIDE OPENING

Our double walled technology prevents condensation or heat transfer to the outside environment, assuring the flask does not sweat or burn your hand while you are carrying it. The mouth of the flask is designed to fit most ice cubes, while also ensuring easy drinking and cleaning.
