

LOXY adds value in textile products. Through flexibility and innovation, honed by generations in the extreme Norwegian nature, we develop world leading products in close cooperation with our clients.

Shaped by Norway

Interaction between man and nature has its unique prerequisites wherever you are. In our case, the inspiration we get from our origin runs deep. The blue sea. The sun that never sets in the summer, and barely rises during winter. And the mountains, known to us locals as the keel. The way they fall steeply into the fjords is nothing less than spectacular. Add to this the wind and the cool climate, and you get drama. The drama that is Norway inspires us in what we do, and how we do it. Shaped by the elements.

Details that matter

Even big pictures are all about the details, because nothing is ever stronger than its weakest point. At LOXY we know that only the closest attention to detail will do the trick. Whether it's work, sports, or medtech, we provide the details and the knowledge that make products endure extreme situations. In fact this is exactly what LOXY is about, providing the smaller things that make the larger ones reliable.

Where and when needed

Though doubtlessly Norwegian, we make sure to be where our clients are. It's a deep tradition of ours to be creative, and global presence is part of the solution. But LOXY is still small enough to have short decision making processes.

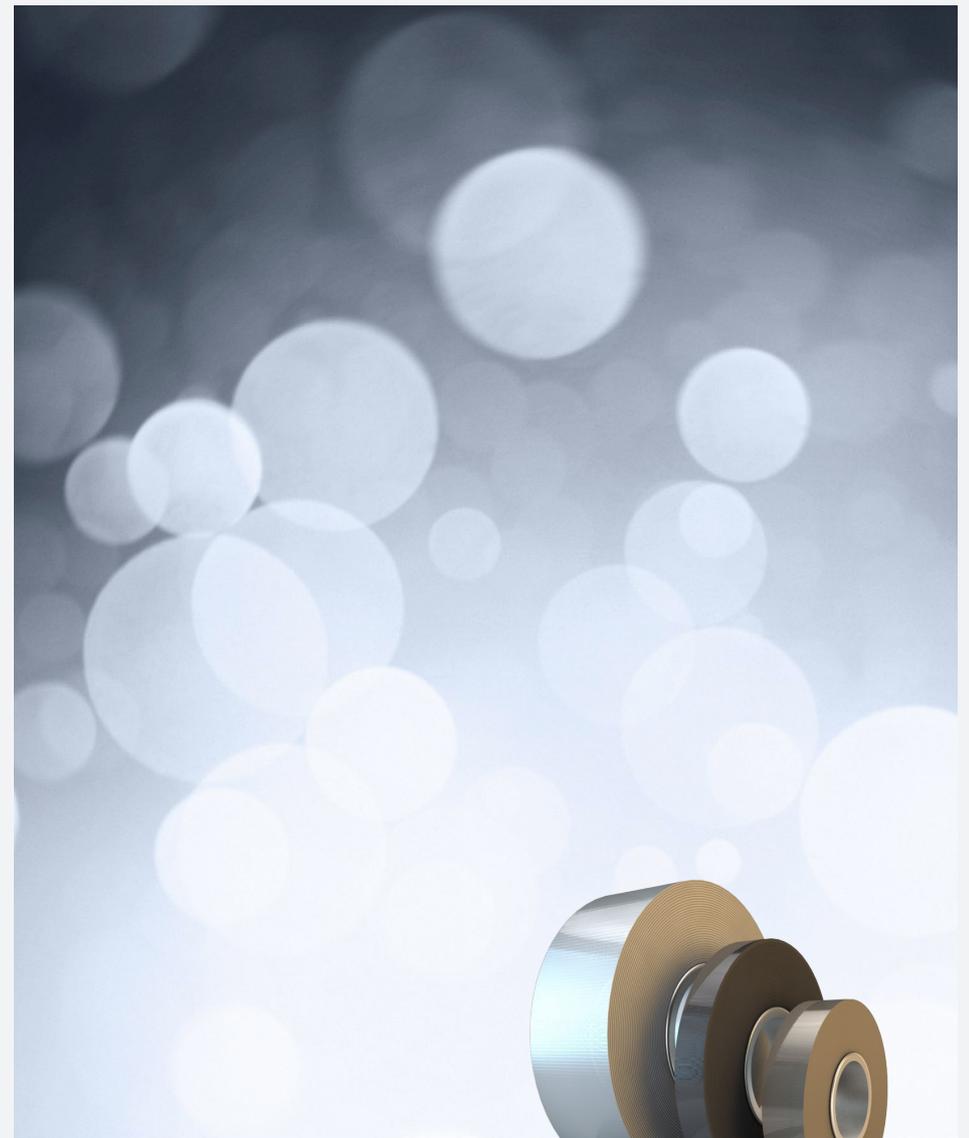

That's because people who work here actually know each other. We are also very mobile, accompanying our clients around the world, whether to solve a problem, or to plan the production. In short, we put pride in making things work.

Every inch reliable

When a garment is sewn together, the seams will always be its weak point. Not only will the seams make the fabric more sensitive to wear and tear, they will also let humidity in. Sealing solutions from LOXY take care of this and are the difference between getting soaked and staying dry. In professional workwear like survival suits this is every inch a detail that makes a difference. LOXY has long-term partnerships with global brands within survival suits, rainwear, sportswear, and workwear, to name some of the fields where sealing solutions are crucial.

LOXY[®] Rex

Reflective solutions getting the job done

Since the world is often a dark place, being visible can be a life saver. Reflective materials from LOXY comes in all the shapes and sizes our clients need. Our tapes are made to be heat pressed or sewn into place. Once applied, the tape stays. The tapes all have one thing in common, they will keep reflecting. LOXY reflective solutions meet the toughest industrial standards.

LOXY[®] Seal

PRODUCT AND SERVICES

GARMENTS

We are proud to work with some of the finest brands around, but that's not all we do. We also have clients who want ready-to-wear garments. This is a segment where we listen carefully to the client's needs before we go about it. For example, we have designed and produced t-shirts, and we have made reflective vests for clients ranging from the aviation industry to kindergartens.

PRODUCTION & SOLUTIONS

People are individuals, and so are companies. Some of our clients need us to supply the details. Others come to us with the request that we provide the full production solution. This is something that we're happy to do. We are experienced when it comes to taking full responsibility of design and production, and in the end delivering the results.

Reflecting your brand

Your brand can stand out either on sportswear or workwear in all conditions. LOXY makes high quality logos for all needs – in reflective colours or combinations, stretchy or sturdy fabrics. Even flame retardant. We will go far to find the best solution for every wish together with each of our clients.

LOXY® Print

THESE ARE OUR BUSINESS AREAS

/Work

The Norwegian nature is demanding, which has shaped who we are. Road construction, fishing, and more recently oil recovery, are only a few examples of tough lines of work with equally tough demands. Providing the details that make professional clothing sturdy and reliable, LOXY is part of the drama.

/Sports

Each sport has its own specifics. Different sports have different demands in terms of function and technology, to achieve top performance. That's natural enough; every sport needs garments made to fit its own conditions. LOXY is always at the forefront of technology, ready to meet every new challenge.

/Medtech

The medtech sector is one with truly high demands when it comes to reliability. Dealing with people's personal security is extremely sensitive, and being a supplier means being meticulous all the way. LOXY is a respected supplier to a sector that relies on the highest quality possible.