

Deluxe all-rounder

Tough, comfortable and safe — the sporty-looking uvex hlmt 600 visor is a first-rate hardshell visor helmet for all-mountain action. It's equipped with a Litemirror visor with anti-fog coating for superior vision and an active ventilation system for maximum internal wear comfort.

What makes the perfect visor helmet? That's exactly the question that the designers at uvex asked themselves when developing the uvex hlmt 600 visor. In addition to optimum fit and comfort features like an active ventilation system, it's safety that is paramount here. That's why uvex has combined an unbreakable Litemirror mirrored visor with a robust hardshell to make the uvex hlmt 600 visor.

Hard on the outside, soft on the inside

The uvex hlmt 600 visor has a hard exterior shell and a protective, shock-absorbing EPS inner shell for superior insulation. Using this construction method enables uvex to integrate an active ventilation system. Air flows through individually adjustable vents in the outer shell and makes its way through deeper set channels within the inner shell, creating a balanced inner climate throughout the helmet. As you'd expect from uvex, the wear comfort and vision are first-rate. Simply put it on, adjust the fit via the 3D IAS system, and you're off. With a Litemirror mirrored visor and anti-fog coating, this helmet guarantees draught free, mist free vision and an extra wide field of vision. It's also available as a uvex hlmt 600 visor V model with a uvex variomatic® visor that automatically adapts the lens tint for all weather and visibility conditions.
